KANKAKEE LINE

(BIG FOUR Rail-way)

NOW IS THE WINTER (HARD WINTER) OF OUR DEMOCRATIC DISCONTENT.

We tell you some one is going to get left.

Well, it's hard—it's tough, but brace up! You, no doubt, are just now promising yourself that never again will you about, stay up nights, spend time, money, march, parade, hurrah, and put up your good money on those candidates who represent your political faith. Never again—never.

But, you dear, good, foolish old crank, the next election will find you just as crazy as this one.

How long, oh, how long, will we have to teach you that nothing is sure but death, taxes and the connections on the Kankakee line?

Nothing gives complete satisfaction but one of the five towns this line is constantly offering the public.

You purchase a new hat; you think it a model of style, and so becoming. The next day you see a style much better; your pride of the day before becomes an eyecore to you until it is worn out. The same with a suit.

How different if you purchase one of those long coupon tickets entitling you to a tour of California, Oregon and Washington Territory or another that gives you the tour of Florida, or that wonderful ride over the scenic Chesapeake & Ohio railroad, over the mountains, down to the sea, or the hundreds of other enticing winter tours offered by this line.

The purchaser of any one of these has something that will prove a joy from the time it admits him in the new Union Station, and he glides out on the swift trains of the Kankakee, over hill, dale, mountains, valleys and rivers to sun-kissed lands, thousands of miles through scenes new, novel and beautiful, in elegance and comfort, over smooth tracks of steel, to far-off lands and homes again.

THE AFRICAN SLAVE TRADE

All European Powers Agree to Assist England in Suppressing the Traffic.

Germany Continues to Discuss the Strictures Recently Passed Upon the Liberal Press of the Empire by Emperor William.

Gossip About the Latest Whitechapel Murder, and Methods of the Police.

It Is Thought the Murderer Has Some Connection with a Steamer that Arrives Once a Week—French Budget—Cable Notes.

THE SLAVE TRADE.

Other European Powers at Last Come to the Assistance of England.

[Copyright, 1888, by the New York Associated Press.]

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—The chief event of the week is the African agreement among the powers. For the past half century English men-of-war have carried on a solitary and almost fruitless struggle against slave trading off the African coast. Suddenly all has changed, and leading powers have been found willing to co-operate. The reasons for the change are not far to seek. Several circumstances combined to bring it about, but without doubt the leading factor, next to the attacks upon the German settlements, was the intense interest the Pope has displayed in the abolition of slavery. As in the Caroline affair, Prince Bismarck has again seized the occasion, without cost to himself, to conciliate and satisfy the Pope and thereby purchase the good will of the German Catholics. Cardinal Lavigne's eloquent European campaign has already proved fruitful. Count Kaloky has intimated his readiness to send a man-of-war to assist in the blockade, and other powers, including Russia and Greece, are disposed to co-operate. A Mozambique dispatch to-night announces the departure of the Italian cruiser Dogali for Zanzibar. The agreement with England gives great satisfaction here, but it is thought that some territorial action is also required. It is argued that the blockade will irritate the Arabs and render them more hostile than ever to the existence of German settlements. The government shows no disposition to provide military assistance for the trading companies, which are said, as an alternative, to be discussing the formation of a colonial force to protect their settlements. The Plantation Company, which is taking the lead in this movement, has just sent an agent to Zanzibar with instructions to proceed to Bombay, if advisable, in order to inquire as to the feasibility of recruiting Mahatras, or people of some other suitable Hindoo race, for the purpose.

Difficulty, however, is anticipated in obtaining England's consent, in which case an endeavor will be made to make Egypt the recruiting ground. If the scheme proves successful, similar measures might be adopted to organize an Emin relief expedition. The government, however, is quite outside of these proposals and may contemplate different measures.

A Prussian officer, writing from Zanzibar, says: "The sudden abolition of slavery would be a disadvantage to us and a blessing to no body. On the other hand, the chance of slave doing, as practiced by English vessels on the coast, is wholly to our interest, as it tends to counteract the depopulation of the country."

EMPEROR WILLIAM.

Germany Continues to Discuss His Free Criticisms of the Newspapers.

[Copyright, 1888, by the New York Associated Press.]

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—The Kaiser's strictures on the Liberal press continue to be discussed. A Liberal organ, to-night, declares that restrictions on the liberty of the press are contemplated, but little credence is attached to the statement. The Socialist members of the Municipal Council tried to pass a vote of censure on the resigned attitude of the municipal deputation which presented the address to the Kaiser, but they were too weak numerically to accomplish their purpose. An important outcome of the affair was its effect on the Freisinger party in the Landtag elections, their loss amounting to one-fourth their whole number. The party, though it has held its ground in Berlin, has been brought to the rest of the empire, especially at Konigsberg, Breslau, Altona and Frankfurt, to concede considerable ground to the National Liberals. The Freisinger organ declares that the result of the elections relieves the party from responsibility and recommends a steadfast waiting attitude. The government is now more than ever sure of a majority—not an absolute, independent one, consisting of Conservatives only, but a working one, composed either of Conservatives and National Liberals, or of Conservatives and Clericals, while the National Liberals have not increased in strength sufficiently to largely influence the government policy.

THE WHITECHAPEL CRIMES.

The Latest Murder Does Not Produce the Excitement of the Previous Ones.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Although the latest Whitechapel murder is of such a nature that it cannot be passed over without great public stir, the popular excitement it has created is far less than that which was noticeable after the other frightful crimes came to light. The frequency with which the horrible deeds have been committed have made people callous to them, and it was not for the disgusting details of yesterday's crime the denunciation of the police department by the press would chronicle the deed, and after a brief raffling of the surmise, London's social life would continue to ebb and flow in peaceful forgetfulness of the revolting crime.

According to statements made to-day by the neighbors of the unfortunate woman, the victim was alive and chatting with her next-door neighbor half an hour before her mutilated body was found. The surgeons, however, who viewed the corpse, are unanimous in the opinion that the woman was murdered between 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning, thus confirming the first reports of the case. The detectives' inquiries to-day elicited the statements that the woman was singing at 1 o'clock in the morning.

The same stupid methods of tracking the criminal are pursued as in the former cases. Sir Charles Warren, the commissioner of police, is absent on a leave of absence, his present locality being a mystery. He was last heard from at St. Petersburg. Urgent telegrams have been sent to him recalling him to his duty, but he has not reached him as yet. He is believed to be en route to Moscow now, but no one seems to know where he is. The fact of his absence has not been made public, but there will be a perfect storm of indignation when it is known. The Cabinet discussed matters relating to the Whitechapel murder and touching upon Commissioner Warren's efficiency for three hours this afternoon, and it is rumored they will make a scape-goat of Warren. This would certainly be a sop to the public, and would ward off censure of the government for a time at least.

The favorite theory regarding the identity of the murderer seems to be that he is either the Malay, formerly spoken of, or a Eastman attached to some steamer that makes trips of a week's duration to some European port. The police incline to the latter supposition. According to this theory the murderer after killing his victim could destroy all trace of his whereabouts by immediately shipping and not returning to London for a week or so.

GENERAL FOREIGN NEWS.

Premier Freycinet Declares That the French Budget Cannot Be Reduced.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—In reply to criticisms upon the war budget in the Chamber of Deputies, today, M. Freycinet insisted that all hopes of reducing it were in vain. Even the necessary preparation for war required an exceptional effort in order to insure the defense of the country. A great nation must make its honor and dignity dependent upon itself alone.

So long as the general situation remains as it is, the Chamber cannot hope to see the war estimates below $50,000,000 francs, and these estimates include all possible considerations of economy. The sum of 1,000,000,000 francs had been estimated of, but the exact figures were much less, after deducting what had already been voted and partially expended. The government, said the Minister, has an outlay of about 500,000,000 francs to be attended over several budgets. This does not indicate any aggressive intention on its part. Nobody is surprised that France desires to secure her independence in the face of all Europe. M. Freycinet's remarks were greatly applauded.

Cheers and Graces for Mr. Gladstone.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone made the journey from Birmingham to Wolverhampton in a carriage drawn by four horses. They were heartily cheered along the route. On arriving at Wolverhampton Mr. Gladstone proceeded to the drill hall, where he received a number of addresses. In replying he was repeatedly interrupted, the disorder finally culminating in an uproar that compelled him to abruptly close his remarks. Great confusion followed the crowd making a rush and demolishing the benches that separated the different sections of the press from the public. The stewards guarded the private door by which Mr. Gladstone left the hall. The ex-Premier proceeded to the railway station, the platform of which was closely guarded, and started for Oxford. As he walked the crowd that had gathered greeted and cheered. At Leamington a large crowd greeted Mr. Gladstone, and he was accompanied by Mrs. Gladstone with a bouquet. At Oxford the crowd, which was composed largely of undergraduates, greeted and cheered Mr. Gladstone as he drove to the residence of Warden Kibble.

FOREIGN NOTES.

The Duchess of Cambridge is dying.

A society has been formed under the presidency of Professor Gustafson, to introduce sanitary improvements in small dwellings in Berlin.

The Political Correspondence of Vienna declares the statement that the Empress of Austria, on her medical advice, is going on a voyage to India or America.

The weather has been extremely cold, and lovers of skating have for several days been enjoying that sport. Snow is lying thickly on all the mountains of Germany.

The sentence of the Mayor of Siles, who was condemned to six months imprisonment for violation of the crimes act, has been confirmed by the Court of Appeal. He will be treated as an ordinary criminal.

M. Edmond LaFayette, a member of the French Senate and the last living representative of the renowned General Lafayette, died at his residence in Paris, France, at the age of 84. He was a direct descendant of Washington's friend, and, although he inherited the Marquis's title, he never used it.

SACKVILLE AND FAMILY.

They Will Leave Washington About the End of the Month—The Murchison Letter.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The Evening Star publishes the following: "The departure of Lord Sackville and his family from Washington will take place about the end of the present month. It is interesting to know the circumstances which led to the fading of the unfortunate Murchison letter. It was a dismal, autumnal day at Beverly farms. Without it was cheerful and uninviting, and within it was comfortless and lonely. The beautiful daughter who presided over the father's household was absent on a visit to Mrs. Whitney, in the Berkshire hills. In sheer desperation of isolation and ennui, Lord Sackville took himself to disposing of a 'mass' of correspondence which had accumulated on his hands. Among the letters was the notorious bomb which was to explode with sufficient force to sever not only the official intercourse between two great nations, but to attract the attention of the diplomatists and circles of the civilized world. The letter was a plain and apparently straightforward document of inquiry in pursuit of light, just such a person would feel like answering when shut up in a bagged, rain-spattered country abode. The answer was penned in hurried private and went off in the mails of that day, and nothing more was thought of it until the reverberations of its explosion in print were heard from the distant shores of the Pacific."

THE METHODIST BISHOPS.

They Discuss Questions of Church Law and the "Plan of Visitation."

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—The Methodist bishops continued their semi-annual session in the Tremont-street M. E. Church this forenoon. Bishop Merrill presided. The time was principally occupied in discussing questions of law, which were referred to special committees. Bishop Newman reported for the conferences of Illinois and Missouri, and Bishop Goodsell for the Iowa Conference. Both reports showed prosperity and steady growth, the accessions to the church having been large. The committee on plan of visitation have presented a plan, which is likely to be adopted, to have one bishop representing the different classes selected as a committee on visitation. There are at present four classes in the board, three of 72, 76, 80, and 84. These four bishops go carefully over the conferences of the whole church and make their assignments of episcopal supervision. They will hold a secret meeting, and the other bishops will not know to what conference they have been appointed until the committee reports. They are expected to follow the dictates of the committee without any question, just as the ministers themselves have to accept their appointments in the spring. Bishop Merrill has been charged with the charge of the New England Conference next April. This is the only appointment yet made.

MARRIED A MURDERER.

Kate Keane Becomes Mrs. McNulty in the San Francisco Jail.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 10.—San Francisco has a Nina Van Zandt in Kate Keane, a young woman who last evening became the wife of John McNulty, a murderer, under sentence to be hanged three weeks from to-day. Sheriff McLean was kinder than Sheriff Mattson, of Chicago, for he gave permission to have the ceremony performed in the jail.

McNulty lived with her when at the time he committed the murder, but she then had not been cured a divorce from her husband, who deserted her. This week she got a divorce. When all was ready for the marriage last evening, McNulty came out of his cell, took the arm of his bride and went to the clerk's office where a couple just recently married. They received congratulations and spent a half day in quiet conversation in the jail corridor, when the bride kissed her condemned husband and left.

She is confident he will yet be released on the insanity plea. A strong appeal has been made to the Governor to commute the sentence to life imprisonment and, if he refuses, an appeal will be made to the Supreme Court.

A Lady Dies Suddenly of Heart Disease.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 10.—The justification here tonight resulted in a fatality. As a noisy crowd passed in front of Wm. Hays's business block, yelling, blowing horns and discharging fire-works, some one threw a bunch of fire-crackers on the stairway. Mr. Hays, who lives on the second floor, rushed down, alarmed at the noise and fire. He was followed by his wife, who was subject to heart disease, and the excitement was too much for her. On reaching the foot of the stairs she dropped dead. She was sixty-five years old and was native of England. A daughter lives in Bristol, and two sisters live at Aurora, Ill. The affair created much excitement and partially checked the demonstration on the street.
